Dr. Israel Goldstein of New York City, president of the Synagogue Council of America, undergoing an examination prior to giving blood at the American Red Cross Blood Donor Center in New York. Dr. Goldstein's blood will be processed into dried plasma and used to save the lives of American fighting men. "The Red Cross through its Blood Donor Service, is conferring a boon both upon the battlefield and upon the home front," said Dr. Goldstein, adding that the donor feels a closer tie with his country after having given his blood.

At left, Dr. Goldstein is shown as he is presented to the guests at a testimonial dinner held in New York. He was informed that a tract of land near Gaza, in Palestine, will bear the name "Nachliath Israel Goldstein" as a testimonial to his services to the Jewish National Fund.

Isig Regenstrief Dies
After Long Illness

A long illness was fatal Thursday, April 1, to Isig Regenstrief, 61, founder and president of the Regen Baking Co. He died at Methodist Hospital.

Mr. Regenstrief had been an Indianapolis resident since coming here from New York 25 years ago. He was a member of Knesses Israel Congregation, B'nai B'rith, the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce and the American Bakers Association.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alice Regenstrief; three daughters, Mrs. Louis Cohn and Mrs. Arthur Barret, both of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Robert Tzucker of Spencer; four sons, Sam Regenstrief of Connersville and Morris Regenstrief, Nathan Regenstrief and Sigmund Regenstrief, all of Indianapolis; a stepson, Cpl. Abe Winter of the United States Army; a sister, Mrs. Lottie Bear of New York, and six grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted Sunday from the Aaron Ruben Funeral Home, with Rabbi David Shapiro and Cantor Sam Levin officiating. Burial followed in Knesses Israel Cemetery.

Says Hate Growing in England

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—Expressing alarm at the growth of anti-Semitism in England, the London News Chronicle in a special article this week declares that "something must be done soon as anti-Semitism is not only immoral and hurtful to one section of the community, but a menace to our democracy which degrades the entire community."

U. S. Jewish Leaders Nettled
By Eden's Indifference to Plight;
U. S. and British Bar Proposal

By BORIS SMOLAR

(c) 1943, Jewish Telegraphic Agency, Inc.

NEW YORK—American Jewish leaders who conferred with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden during his stay in Washington, returned to New York somewhat discouraged. It seems that Eden does not fully comprehend the Jewish tragedy in Europe. At any rate, the pressure by many members of parliament, and by the church and press in England for urgent and effective steps to save Jews in Nazi countries seems to have had little effect upon the British Foreign Secretary. He is especially irritated when Palestine is mentioned as a possible haven for Jewish refugees. No wonder that Jewish organizations now place little hope in the forthcoming Anglo-American conference on refugees in Bermuda. Jewish groups both in this country and in England would have liked to see this conference held in London where public opinion could have some influence on its outcome. With the parley being of an "exploratory" nature and held quietly in Bermuda, isolated from the rest of the world, what immediate aid can it bring to the Jews in the Nazi clutches?

Jewish Plan Gets

Cool Reception

A plan submitted by Jewish groups to Myron C. Taylor for transmission to the State Department and to leaders of the British Government was apparently given a cool reception. Having failed to secure a sympathetic hearing for the plan, Mr. Taylor who is trying to do all possible for the Nazi victims, was compelled to indicate to Jewish leaders that in the future they had better address themselves to the Governments directly. It is understood that Jewish organizations would like the U. S. Government to address itself, over the radio, to the German government with a suggestion that the Reich permit Jews to leave Nazi countries under a monthly quota system with the assurance that they will be given asylum in democratic countries. A precedent in addressing the enemy directly has already been made by England in communicating with the Nazi Government over the radio on the question of unchaining British war prisoners whom the Nazis had fettered.

All Jewish Congressmen

Meet in Sabbath's Office

All Jewish congressman met recently in the Washington office of Congressman Sabbath of Chicago. The meeting was devoted to the question of saving the Jews in Europe from Nazi extermination, and was the first time that Democratic and Republican Jewish members of the Congress have gotten together on an issue concerning Jews.

Negotiations are now going on between Jewish groups in America and the International Red Cross concerning supplying food to Jews deported by the Nazis from their homes to devastated territories. The International Red Cross supplies food packages not only to war prisoners, but also to civilian internees. Jewish organizations, therefore, argue that the Jewish deportees are also entitled to receive food through the Red Cross since they are civilian internees held in isolated camps.

Mo'os Chitim
Committee Set Up

Dr. A. S. Jaeger, president of the Jewish Family Service Society, has again set up a Mo'os Chitim Committee to supervise distribution of funds for Passover to needy families. All the rabbis and presidents of the congregations have been invited to membership on the committee.

They include Rabbis S. A. Katz, M. Albagali, M. M. Feuerlicht, David S. Shapiro, M. Goldblatt, Samuel Fox, Israel Chodos and Nandor Fruchter.

Also, L. Frankovitz, Dr. Harry A. Jacobs, Louis Barnett, Daniel Frisch, Louis Elkovits, Sam Hoffman, M. Stein, Max Rutenberg, Isaac Aroesti, Samuel Caplin, Julius Falender, Louis Glogas, H. Joseph Hyman and Rebecca Goldstein. Funds for Mo'os Chitim are made available by the Jewish Welfare Fund. Last year 29 families received a total of $270.

100 New Members
B'nai B'rith Goal

The Indianapolis lodge of B'nai B'rith this week announced the opening of a Spring Drive membership campaign for which the first report meeting will be held today with Michael Sharlitt of Cleveland, Field Director for the District Grand Lodge, a special guest.

The campaign has been designated as the Centennial Campaign, in observance of the one hundredth anniversary of B'nai B'rith's founding. The Indianapolis Lodge has pledged itself to secure one hundred additional members. The keynote of the drive, which will continue throughout the month of April, will be the war service activities of the organization.

David M. Cook is serving as membership chairman and the committee includes H. T. Cohen, Moie Cook, Max Farb, Isidore Feibleman, Milton Fineberg, Rabbi Fox, Sam Kagan, Leo Kam-

Brodetsky Voices Hope for Success Of Bermuda Conference Wants Jewish Representation

LONDON—The hope that the forthcoming Bermuda Conference on refugee problems "will not be a repetition of the Evian conference" and that Jews will be represented there and Jewish views heard, was voiced this week by Prof. Selig Brodetsky, president of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, addressing a conference called by the British Jewish organizations to demand action to rescue European Jews.

Referring to the United States State Department's not proposing the parley, in which it was declared that action is not intended to aid "any particular race or faith" and a similar statement in the House of Lords by Viscount Cranborne, Prof. Brodetsky emphasized that "on no other people has a declaration of death been pronounced."

Union Resolutions Take Strong Stand On Jewish Question

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK — Urgent United Nations action to save the Jews in Europe now, guarantees that Jewish rights will be safeguarded in all countries after the war and the opening of Palestine to Jewish immigration, were demanded in resolutions adopted at the closing session of the 38th biennial council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, which met at the Hotel New Yorker here. The council also went on record opposing the abrogation of the Cremieux Law by General Giraud, pledging adherence to the American Jewish Assembly and urging its member congregations to intensify their efforts in behalf of the war effort and in maintaining religious life in America.

It was decided that the next council will be held in Toronto, Canada, in 1945, if the nation is no longer at war. Otherwise, the executive board of the UAHC will designate a meeting place. Adolph Rosenberg, formerly chairman of the executive board, was elected president of the UAHC. The National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, which also held its biennial convention here, reelected Mrs. Hugo Hartmen as president.

The editor's chair,

Under the proposed new constitution for the Indiana-Kentucky State Association of B'nai B'rith, the chairman of the nominating committee would be the junior president of the organization, and those who see in this provision nothing to fret about, do not understand the continual maneuvering going on in B'nai B'rith politics.

Last year there was a terrific battle at Akron, at the annual convention of District Grand Lodge No. 2 over the question of who would be appointed District Deputy for Indiana. Usually this position is a stepping stone to a place on the General Committee of the District, and a position on that committee is almost absolutely necessary for election to the chairs in the District.

There was a past-president of the State Association on whom all the machers in Indiana were agreed beforehand. In years past, this recommendation came out of the caucus of the Indiana delegation at the convention although actually the choice had been made months before between two or three bigshots in the state.

Well last year for some reason, the convention was given the name of someone else for deputy and the Indiana delegation was told that no caucus would be held. This really started the fireworks, and the Indiana leaders were all ready to battle it out on the floor and present the original name anyway. There were two or three Indiana men who for reasons known to themselves had put up this new name, and the lines were drawn for a knock-down drag out fight when better sense prevailed, and the name was allowed to go through uncontested.

Now you might see why allowing the junior presidents of the State Association to head the nominating committee could be (Continued in last column)

B'nai B'rith's Evolution

AN EVOLUTION that was bound to take place if the organization was to be honest and consistent, has made itself articulate in a resolution passed by the Council of Western Lodges of the Canadian B'nai B'rith meeting in Saskatoon the last week in March. The resolution declared that the B'nai B'rith will take a more active interest in problems confronting world Jewry and that the order will devote special attention to the problem of assisting victims of persecution by participating in activity for the upbuilding of the Jewish National Homeland in Palestine and Jewish relief work.

According to The Jewish Post, of Winnipeg, Can., the council decided also to urge lodges to foster Jewishness and Jewish observance.

The resolution is important. Heretofore

B'nai B'rith has paid lip service in its local attitude to these Jewish causes, while at the same time in its national activities and attitude it was beginning to actively participate in a positive way in Zionist causes, and through its Hillel becoming a positive religious body, in the same category as a synagogue.

Generally speaking, B'nai B'rith is evolving into the same kind of an organization as a Brotherhood or a Men's Club. It is a lay body of Jewish men interested in fostering a vibrant Judaism. It is just as simple as that. Whereas B'nai B'rith in the past was motivated mostly by social and charitable reasons, the transition has been slow, but persistent, to the new type of organization, one that has the strength of its Jewish convictions.

Let Indianapolis Women Bestir Themselves

ONE LONE Indianapolis Jewish home this week answered the call for invitations to Jewish soldiers for Seders, and what with an expectation of a need for 1000 invitations, Indianapolis Jewish mothers had better bestir themselves lest the city reputation for hospitality suffer.

But the Post knows that the spirit of welcoming the stranger is strong in the hearts of our good Jewish women, and for hospitality our matrons rank second to no Jewish community in the land.

It is merely that human weakness of putting things off until the last moment.

So this is a warning, albeit a kindly one, to you Jewish mothers to get on the phone this moment, and call Kirshbaum Center, WAbash

2401 right now, and arrange for having an invitation extended to as many Jewish soldiers for each or both Seder nights as you can possibly welcome. Let them partake of the warmth and friendliness of your home on this occasion when the nostalgia of the night is no doubt more poignant than on almost any other time for the Jewish soldiers.

Need it be recalled that your own son or daughter in some distant city or land is looking forward eagerly to spending an evening with some Jewish family who bethought themselves of the loneliness and coldness of a Passover Seder night spent in a mess hall and barracks and took care that no Jew within miles was without an invitation.

Talks About Reform Being on The Wane Is Propaganda. Rabbi Hyman Judah Schachtel Says in The Messenger of the West End Synagogue—The meetings of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations during the early part of April in our city, direct our thoughts to an evaluation of Reform Judaism at this time.

There are many who exclaim that Reform Judaism is on the wane. There are others who call for a return to Orthodox rituals. Still others point to Judaism as only one part of what they like to term as the "civilization" of the Jew. It is true that the majority of American Jews are untouched by any of these contentions or controversies.

A minority of them read the Anglo-Jewish press and even of those who do, a considerable number read only the Society News columns. Not that the Anglo-Jewish press deserves a larger public than it has. It is, for the most part, completely dominated by the Zionists who even write the editorials.

Now what about this untouched majority of American Jews and Reform Judaism. Has this majority rejected Reform? I don't believe so. They have not rejected it because there has been no real effort made to reach them or persuade them. Their Judaism is liberal and progressive. Their lives hardly conform to Orthodox rules. They have indeed, by their conduct, rejected all those Orthodox customs which Reform Jews do not observe. They may not know it, but what they believe in and what they regard as important is precisely the program of Reform Judaism. We confront then a strange situation in which millions of Jews are unaffiliated with the Synagogue, yet think like Reform or liberal Jews, while the Synagogue which represents and fortifies their convictions is ignored. Obviously, what we need is to bring the Reform Synagogue to the people. Never was there a better time. All this talk about Reform on the wane is the propaganda of a few. Let us but go out to American Jewry with a well organized campaign of enlightenment about Reform Judaism and we shall bring thousands into our Synagogues and build many more Sanctuaries. The war is making people more conscious than ever of the House of God. They are waiting for our message and invitation. Let us speak. We shall be heard. We shall succeed.

Why Did Press of Nation Ignore Congress Resolution on Mass Murders of Jews. Asks The Jewish Ledger (Hartford, Conn.) — On March 9 the Congress of the United States passed a resolution unanimously condemning the "mass murders of Jewish men, women and children" as a "brutal and indefeasible outrage." The resolution was presented by Senator Alben W. Barkley, majority leader.

We make reference to it at this time to ask a pointed question: Why was it that the news agencies of the United States and the newspapers of the United States gave silent treatment to this resolution? Why was it that the daily press of this country did not report this resolution? Why was it that no editorial comment appeared in connection with it.

It was an important act when the Congress of the United States, both houses of the Congress, passed unanimously, with an appropriate and solemn ceremony this resolution of protest and condemnation. But it went unheeded and unnoticed, certainly unreported by the press of the United States which clamors constantly about "freedom of the press." Does not freedom of the press impose the obligation of coverage of items as important as this, and is not the covering of this resolution by a blanket of silence, a denial, or even an act of repudiation of the very "freedom of the press" for which the newspapers, with justice, clamor so constantly?

It was a painful thing to note that an act of Congress that was so important and could have been made so meaningful, was ignored by the press.

We wonder why this happened.

20 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK AGO

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

VIENNA—The proposed martial demonstration by the Hakenkreuzler organization here, which was planned as a warning to the Jews, has been cancelled as a result of action by the police. The Hakenkreuzler, however, continue their anti-Jewish agitation. Their newspapers publish long lists of Jewish firms which they urge should be boycotted.

BERLIN—Three hundred Russian-Jewish refugees who were expelled from Poland have been granted temporary asylum in Germany.

fraught with serious complication, if that person happened to have a political bug in his hat. He would be sure to see that those nominated were not of a mind to thwart these ambitions, or if you want to put it in the positive case, then do it.

Of course every organization, from the Zionists on down, must be run by somebody, and these somebodies are almost sure to be accused by The Post as being politicians, when actually if you don't have people interested enough in the organization to want to run it, you won't have much of an organization.

The real answer is this: So frame the constitution that it will give the freest possible choice to the electorate. What this will do to the electorate and to the esprit d'corps within the organization will be revelatory, if only some organization would give democracy a fair trial.

Henry Montor, executive director of the United Jewish Appeal, who usually makes a straight talk, handed it right from the shoulder at the meeting of the Western States Region of the Council of Jewish Welfare Funds and Federation in Los Angeles last week. Montor said that unless American Jewry makes it possible for Jews to survive elsewhere, "there can be no survival here." That's a broad statement, but Montor never was given to small talk, and although young in years, he has one of the finest minds among leaders of American Jewry. Other points he made, all of which can hardly be controverted:

"Planlessness and political inaction may find us in an era when Hitler will have been defeated and Hitler's ideas will have conquered.

"You cannot save Jews any more without political action—here or elsewhere. Gen. Giraud has freed the Jews—of their citizenship, and if we Jews do not speak up consistently and emphatically, it will be possible to remove the citizenship of Jews in other parts of the world beside Algeria.

"The United Nations must open up their doors, to the hundreds of thousands of Jews who have found momentary 'security' in neutral countries. Britain must open the doors of Palestine to the thousands who have no choice but Palestine or death."

CLAIMS POST COULD HAVE WRITTEN WONDERFUL EDITORIAL

To the editor,

The March 12th issue of your paper carried a quotation from the Temple Bulletin of Rabbi Elmer Berger, Flint, Mich. In the excerpt as quoted by you Rabbi Berger complained that even the minimal program of his Congregation is not being given support. He bemoaned the fact that a bare handful of members was present at a lecture delivered by Dr. Slosson, who had been obtained as a speaker "at considerable expense."

It should be recalled that Rabbi Berger is the Executive Director of the Anti-Zionist American Council for Judaism, which is "against a Jewish State, a Jewish flag, and a Jewish army." Perhaps the lack of attendance at Rabbi Berger's meetings may be ascribed to his own program of minimal Judaism. Without considerable expense he could easily have obtained the services of outstanding Jewish speakers such as Rabbi James G. Heller, Dr. Israel Goldstein, Judge Louis E. Levinthal, or others. I have little doubt that the ever increasing number of absent members of his Congregation would have been glad to hear a dynamic message on Jewish life. But apparently Zionism is too dynamic—and the Temple seats remain empty.

Mr. Editor, what a wonderful editorial you might have written on Rabbi Berger's revealing complaint.

Sincerely yours,

CARL ALPERT, Washington, D. C.

Editor's Note: Mr. Alpert, who is editor of The New Palestine, organ of the Zionist Organization of America, makes the point that all Zionist Congregations are full of activity. Are they? Maybe so? The item in question was reprinted as an example of conditions general in many congregations, Zionist and non-Zionist alike, and anyway Cousin Carl can write his own editorials in his own publication.

Two Jewish boys were among the four representing their respective schools in Gary last week at the Rotary War-Peace Oratorical Contest. Jacob Herman of Froebel School was given first place, and Harrison Mellman, a member of the Lew Wallace Debating Team was rated third in spite of the fact that he had but one day's notice to prepare his talk, when it was found that the boy originally chosen would be unable to appear. TOWN CRIER

By G. M. C.

Early last month I wrote a letter to the Jewish Federation of Indianapolis asking that The Post be allowed to cover the meetings of the board of the Federation. I laid my case on the proposition that since The Federation was the governing body for the Jewish community, its decisions and actions were as much within the province of public information as the sessions of Congress or any other legislative body. That is if the Indianapolis Jewish community operates under democratic principles. Well, the board met and decided that the complete minutes of the meetings of The Federation would be thrown open to the paper rather than permitting us to send a reporter to the meeting, which is all right by me. One of my arguments was that the community would show a greater interest in the work of the Federation if it had knowledge of what that body was doing, and I think I will be proven right on this when it comes time to elect members to the Federation board. We'll see.

I drove a Jewish business man home, who has been quite friendly, and before I had reached his house I had made the statement: "You're an unintelligent man, Mr. ———." I got wrought up in my way, because he began telling me about conversations he had on a train returning from Chicago, and everything he had heard he repeated just like an automaton, instead of as a reasoning man trying to sift the lies from the truth. First he reported that a Washington, D. C. newspaper man had declared that the government was keeping a check of the papers to see how much Washington propaganda was being printed, to use as a criterion of how much newsprint each paper would be allowed. Then he reported the tribulations of some manufacturer whose case was being handled by a bureaucracy who had never had any practical experience, but went fresh from school to this important government post, and that even the professor at his school hadn't had any practical experience, etc., etc. My friend—he actually is a friend—reported all this conversation just like my little son repeats words that he hears. Now if someone were to use the same discernment when they hear anti-Jewish propaganda this gentleman would probably rise up in force to defend the name of the Jew, yet he is willing to listen to talk against the government without even the first bit of questioning.

The Friday night that Rabbi Chodoss called the turn on Eddie Rickenbacker, after services one of the leaders of Beth El came to me shaking his head. "Is that a sermon subject?", he asked. I told him I thought it was excellent, and would have gone into an explanation of why it is necessary for the Church, if it is to survive, to come down to earth and make it possible for some of the things it preaches to become reality, but he was

That was an excellent picture Zalman Cohen, our staff photographer, made of the committee for the Donor Luncheon which appeared in last week's paper. The faces were clear, and it was newspaper photography at its best. So what! Zalman, who has been faithful to The Post to the point where he has neglected his own business, was not given credit at all—his name was omitted from the cutlines.
